UML component diagram — tool-supported architecture reconstruction of an observed system